

AAPI NEXUS JOURNAL:
POLICY, PRACTICE, AND COMMUNITY
2003-2017 CUMULATIVE ARTICLE INDEX

Published by UCLA's Asian American Studies Center Press, AAPI Nexus is a national journal focusing on policies, practices, and community research to benefit the nation's burgeoning Asian American and Pacific Islander communities. AAPI Nexus Journal draws from professional schools and applied social science scholars as well as practitioners and public policy advocates with the goal of reinvigorating Asian American Studies' mission of serving communities and generating practical research.

COMPILER'S NOTE:

This article index categorizes articles by policy topic areas and past Nexus volume/issue themes. The index includes all issues of AAPI Nexus published in the traditional print format from Summer/Fall 2003 to Fall 2017 (Volumes 1-15). Future issues of AAPI Nexus will move toward online publication and an open-access model, in order to promote wider access.

The complete list of policy/topic areas can be found in the Table of Contents. Within each policy/topic area, are relevant articles organized in the order of their appearance in AAPI Nexus (from the earliest year to most recent year). Each entry includes author name(s) and the volume, issue, and page number of AAPI Nexus where each article can be found.

UCLA Asian American Studies Center Press is the only university-based press committed to publishing scholarship entirely on Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders. The Press currently has 200 titles in stock, including Amerasia Journal, AAPI Nexus, almanacs, bibliographies, directories, and bestselling collections, anthologies, public policy research reports, and memoirs. AASC has published scholarship and research on South Asians, Hawaiians, Samoans, Hmong, Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Filipino, Vietnamese, and people of mixed Asian heritage descent. Besides timely coverage of historical and current topics, the Press is committed to publishing in a variety of areas, including race relations, war and peace movements, religion, activist politics, gender and sexuality, public policy, health, education, community history and settlement, literature and the arts, and Latin American and transcultural societies. Now in its fourth decade of training, research, and publishing, AASC is moving into podcasts and web technology production, and has products available for purchase through various online outlets.

The Press also co-publishes and helps to distribute books by other research and community institutions nationwide, including the Smithsonian, Asian Pacific American Legal Center, Leadership Education for Asian Pacifics, Inc., the Museum of Tolerance, the Okinawan Club of America, the Japanese American National Museum, and the Chinese Historical Society of Southern California.
