

BEAUTY

I. THERE IS NO COSMETIC FOR BEAUTY LIKE HAPPINESS.

LADY Blessington

(USED FEB. 18, 1951 - "TIME, BEAUTY AND YOU")

II. THAT WHICH IS STRIKING AND BEAUTIFUL IS NOT ALWAYS GOOD,
BUT THAT WHICH IS GOOD IS ALWAYS BEAUTIFUL.

NINON DE L'ENCLOS

Courage

- I This is courage: to remain
Brave and patient under pain;
Cool and calm and firm to stay
In the presence of dismay;
Not to flinch when foes attack,
Even though you're beaten back;
Still to cling to what is right,
When the wrong possesses might,
- II This is courage: to be true
To the best men see in you
To remember, tempest-tossed,
Not to whimper, "All is lost!"
But to battle to the end
While you still have strength to spend;
Not to cry that hope is gone
While your life to carry on.
- III This is courage: to endure
Hurt and loss you cannot cure;
Patiently and undismayed,
Facing life still unafraid
Glad to live and glad to take
Bravely for ^{all the others'} children's sake,
Burdens they would have to bear
If you fled and ceased to care.

Life's Tests

(Author)
(By Guest)

✓ If never a sorrow came to us, and never a care we knew;
If every hope were realized, and every
dream came true;
If only joy were found on earth, and
no one ever sighed,
And never a friend proved false to us,
and never a loved one died,
And never a burden bore us down, soul
sick and weary, too.
We'd yearn for tests to prove our worth and tasks for us to do.

NOT IN VAIN (Emily Dickinson)

If I can stop one heart from breaking,
I shall not live in vain.
If I can ease one life the aching,
Or cool one pain,
Or help one fainting robin
Unto his nest again,
I shall not live in vain.

A PERFECT DAY (Carrie Jacobs Bond)

I When you come to the end of a perfect day,
And you sit alone with your thought,
While the chimes ring out with a carol gay,
For the joy the day has brought,
Do you think what the end of a perfect day
Can mean to a tired heart,
When the sun goes down with a flaming ray
And the dear friends have to part.

II Well this is the end of a perfect day,
Near the end of a journey too,
But it leaves a thought that is big and strong,
With a wish that is kind and true,
For memory has painted this perfect day
With colors that never fade,
And we find at the end of a perfect day,
The soul of a friend we made.

FUGITIVE (From the book "Turned" by Sarah Tarkington).

I will forget the things that sting,
The lashing look, the barbed word.
I know the very hands that fling
The stones at me, had never stirred
To anger but for their own scars.
They've suffered so, that's why they strike.
I'll keep my heart among the stars
Where none shall hurt it out. Oh, like
These wounded ones I must not be,
For wounded I might strike in turn.
So none shall hurt me. Far and free
Where my heart flies, no one shall learn.

A SMILE (Anon).

Let others cheer the winning man,
There's one I hold worthwhile;
Tis he who does the best he can,
Then loses with a smile.
Beaten he is, but not to stay
Down with the rank and file;
That man will win some other day
Who loses with a smile.

LAND ON YOUR FEET (Sam Walter Foss)

You take a cat up by the tail,
 And whirl him round and round,
 And hurl him out into the air,
 Out into space profound,
 He through the yielding atmosphere
 Will many a whirr complete;
 But when he strikes upon the ground
 He'll land upon his feet.

Fate takes a man, just like a cat,
 And, with more force than grace,
 It whisks him wiggle round and round,
 And hurls him into space;
 And those that fall upon the back,
 Or land upon the head,
 Fate lets them lie there where they fall —
 They're just as good as dead.

But some there be, that, like the cat,
 Whirl round and round and round,
 And go gyrating off through space,
 Until they strike the ground;
 But when ^{that} last the ground and they
 Do really come to meet,

You'll always find them right side up—
They land upon their feet.

And such a man walks off erect,
Triumphant and slate,
And with a courage in his heart
He shakes his fist at fate
Then fate with a benignant smile
Upon its face outspread,
Puts forth its soft, caressing hand
And pats him on the head.

And he's fate's darling from that day,
His triumph is complete;
Fate loves the man who whib and whib,
But lands upon his feet.
That man whatever his ups and downs,
Is never wholly spurned,
Whose perpendicularity
Is never overturned.

✓ BE THE BEST OF WHATEVER YOU ARE

If you can't be a pine on top of the hill

Be a scrub in the valley, but be

The best little scrub at the side of the hill;

Be a bush if you can't be a tree.

If you can't be a bush be a bit of the grass,

And some highway some happier make,

If you can't be a muskie then just be a bass -

But the liveliest bass in the lake!

We can't all be captains, we've got to be crew,

There's something for all of us here.

There's big work to do and there's lesser to do

And the task we must do is the near.

If you can't be a highway then just be a trail,

If you can't be the sun, be a star,

It isn't by size that you win or you fail -

Be the best of whatever you are.

Douglas Malloch

✓ IF (Rudyard Kipling)

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet, don't look too good nor talk too wise.

If you can dream - and not make dreams your master
If you can think and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with triumph and disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop, and build them up with worn-out tools.

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your nerve and heart and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone.

And so, hold on when there is nothing else ^{you} within Except the will which says to them, "Hold on."

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds worth of distant suns,
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And which is more, you'll be a Man, my son!

LIFE

- I Life is a gift to be used every day,
Not to be smothered and hidden away;
It isn't a thing to be stored in a chest
Where you gather your keepsakes and treasure your best;
It isn't a joy to be sipped now and then
And promptly put back in a dark place again.
- II Life is a gift that the humblest may boast of
And one that the humblest may well make the most of.
Get out and live it each hour of the day,
Wear it and use it as much as you may;
Don't keep it in niches and corners and grooves
You'll find that in service, its beauty improves

GREATNEES

Who Walks Aloft
By Gertrude Hamilton Brooke

Who walks aloft, must walk alone;
Mankind is meant to singe.
Battles of life are hardly won
By those who fight them single.

When warring forces close around,
The friends we made in playdays
Will surely help us hold our ground
And pull us through the gray days.

So let us walk in comradeship,
Make friends, that we may weather
The slippery paths where we may trip,
Unless we walk together.

~~Who Walks Aloft~~

WHAT GOD HATH PROMISED

God hath not promised
Skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
All our life thru;
God hath not promised
Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow
Peace without pain.

God hath not promised
We shall not know
Toil and temptation,
Trouble and woe;
He hath not told us
We shall not bear
Many a burden
Many a care.

God hath not promised
Smooth roads and wide,
Swift, easy travel,
Needing no guide;
Never a mountain
Rocky and steep.

Never a river
Turbid and deep:

But God hath promised
Strength for the day,
Rest for the labor,
Light for the way,
Grace for the trials,
Help from above,
Unfailing sympathy,
Undying love.

✓ DESIRE (Anonymous)

O God... help me to be a sport in this game
of life.

I don't ask for an easy place in the lineup; play me

Anywhere you need me. I only ask for the stuff

To give you one hundred per cent of what I've got.

If all the hard drives seem to come my way,
I thank you

You for the compliment. Help me to remember that you won't

Ever let anything come my way that you and I can't

Handle. And help me to take the bad breaks as part

Of the game. Help me to understand that the game is full

Of knocks and knots and trouble, and make me thankful

For them. Help me to get so, that the harder they

Come, the better I will like them.

And, O God, help me to always play on the square no

make us over players so. Help me to come clean,

Help me to study the books, so that I'll know the

Rules... and to study and think a lot about the

Greatest player that ever lived, and other great players

That are told about in the Book. If they found that the best

Part of the game, was helping the other fellows who were out of luck. help me
To find it out too. Help me to be a regular fellow with the other players.

Finally, O God, if Fate seems to uproot me with both

Hands, and I'm laid on the shelf in sickness or old

Age... or something... help me to take that too, as a part

Of the game. Help me not to whimper or squeal that the Game was a frame-up, or that I had a raw deal.

When in the falling dust, I get the brief
bell, I ask

For no lying complimentary stories. I'd only like to know

That I've been a good, games guy.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

(Author unknown)

For it isn't by money you measure a town,
Or the miles that its borders extends,
For the best things you gather, whatever the town
Are contentment, enjoyment, and friends.
If you live and you work and you develop your town
In spite of the fact it is small,
You may find that your town, your own little town
Is the very best town after all.

OTHERS

By Charles D. Neige

Lord, help me live from day to day
In such a self-forgetful way
That ever when I kneel to pray
My prayers shall be for others

Others, Lord, yes others
Let this my motto be
Let me live for others
That I might live like Thee.

I'd rather be a Could Be
If I could not be an Are!
For a Could Be is a May Be
With a chance of touching far;
I'd rather be a Has Bees
Than a Night Have Bees, key far,
For a Night Have Bees has never been
But a Has Bees was once an Are.

Only a smile that was given me,
In a noisy classroom one day,
Forgotten, as soon, as given, perhaps,
As the donor went her way.
But it pierced the gloom of my saddened heart,
Like a sudden sun-beams ray.
Straight to my heart it went speeding-
As it chased the clouds away.

FRIENDSHIP QUOTES

* The day I break my faith with friends
That day my right to friendship ends.

A day for toil, an hour for sport
But for a friend, life is too short.

He who has a thousand friends has not a friend to spare

He who has one enemy shall meet him everywhere.

— Persian Proverb

The only reward of virtue is virtue;
the only way to have a friend is to be one

— Emerson.

Thanks for the sympathies you have shown
Thanks for each kindly word, each silent token,
That teaches me when seeming most alone,
Friends are around us tho' no words be spoken.

dry spray

Give me a heart
That measures worth
Unselfishly to feel
Delight in all that's genuine
Respect for all that's real;
To look on life
With eyes that see
Beneath the show and sham.
Able to fathom what is true
Within my fellow-men.

✓ Friendship needs no symbol,
Or vow to make it whole;
It's just a sacred covenant
That's locked within the soul;
It knows no creed or station,
Or thought of gain or fame,
For what it does is sacred,
And is done is friendship's name.

July 12 "However dark the immediate future, all is not lost. Humanity will live by the faith and the hope, the love and the suffering of a small number of men, who are to be found in all camps, dispersed through all parties
and through all nations, the men who say:
'Nevertheless and inspite of everything, and whatever may come, I believe.' They are the "sacred root," the saving remnant. In their hearts lies the force of the resurrection which will come after the night.
The world does not stand or fall with discoveries or inventions, nor with the trembles of the armed hosts and the thunder of bombing of planes. The world stands or falls with the laws of life which
Heaven has written in the human conscience.
Not what a man does, but how he does it,
is decisive. In whatever direction the future moves, whether the earthquake is long in coming or not, we must from now onward learn to live and act in the knowledge that we are all responsible to and for one another, because we have one common eternal de-tainer, and because we are dependent on one Father who made brother of us all.

HAPPINESS

Where's happiness? That city fair
I sought in vain to find.
A friend located it for me:
It's in the state of mind.

I WONDER

An old man limped along life's way
His grief-bowed head was crowned with gray
Somebody cheered his dreary day;
I wonder -- was it you?

There's always someone needing aid,
Some trembling heart alone, afraid,
Some load that could be lighter made --
Can they depend on you?

SUCCESS

Before God's footstool to confess
A poor soul knelt, and bowed his head;
"I failed," he cried. The Master said
"Thou didst thy best -- that is success."

You HAVE To BELIEVE

You have to believe in happiness,
Or happiness never comes.

I know that a bird chirps none the less
When all that he finds is crumbs.

You ^{have} to believe the buds will blow, --
Ah, that's the reason a bird can sing--
On his darkest day he believes in Spring.

You have to believe in happiness --

It isn't an outward thing.

The Spring never makes the song, I guess,
As much as the song the Spring.

Aye, many a heart could find content
If it saw the joy on the road it went,
The joy ahead when it had to grieve,
For the joy is there-- but you have to believe

— Mallock

✓ As You Go Thru Life

Don't look for flaws as you go through life;
And even when you find them,
It is wise and kind to be somewhat blind
And look for the virtue behind them,
For the cloudiest nite has the hint of light
Somewhere in its shadows abiding,
It is better by far to hunt for a star
Than the spots on a sun abiding.

The current of life runs ever away
To the bosom of God's great ocean.
Don't set your force, 'gainst the river's course
And think to alter its motion.
Don't waste a curse on the universe--
Remember it lived before you.
Don't butt at the storm with your puny force,
But bend and let it go o'er you.

This world will never adjust itself
To suit your whims to the letter,
Some things must go wrong your whole life long,
And the sooner you know it, the better.
It's folly to fight with the infinite,
And go under it, at least, in the wrestle,
The wider man shapes into God's plan
As the water shapes into a vessel.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox

UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE

In every race, in every creed,

It matters not, how far apart,

The language of a loving deed

Is understood by every heart.

—Josephine Robinson

MY PRAYER

God, let me live each lovely day
So I may know, that come what may,
I've done my best to live the way
You'd want me to.

Just let me know, if I should stray
That I may stop along the way
At any time of night or day
And talk to you

Eric Janice.

In my intense desire for sight,
May I not stand in someone's light.
And if my neighbor err, I pray,
Oh, show me, then, my feet of clay.
God grant to me the highest art;
Give me the understanding heart.

THESE THINGS ARE FREE

In gloomy tones we need not cry--
"How many things there are to buy!"

Here is a thought for you and me,--
"The best of things in life are free!"

The air, the sunshine, and the sea,
All gladness, beauty, these are free.

Our faithful friendships, sympathy,
The joys of living, these are free

All loving service, loyalty,
Our God's protection, these are free.

The more we look, the more we see
How many precious things are free.

The heart will find more than the eye
Of things we do not have to buy.

Let's stop and think; let's know and feel
That things like this are truly real,

Yes, think how very rich are we
When all the best of things are free.

THEY Do Not Know

They do not know the harm they do,
Who say an unkind thing;
The hasty word by them forgot,
In some heart leaves a sting.

They never know the ill they do
By some unfriendly deed;
Or what a harvesting of tares
Where they have sown the seed!

They do not know the good they do,
Who speak a heartening phrase,
Or lend a helping hand along
Lifes steep and rugged ways.

They never know the good they do,
Who cheer and laugh and sing,
And so, into a toiled-filled day,
A happier courage bring.

O careless one, think what you do,
Take heed to what you say.
And kindly ones, speak, laugh + sing,
And cheer us on our way.

Courage must come from the soul within
The man must furnish the will to win
So figure it out for yourself, my lad --
You were born with all that the great have had
With your equipment they all began,
Get hold of yourself and say "I can!"

✓ His gifts are small who offers wealth
Without the will to smile,
And seek for others happiness
That shortens every mile.

He gives the most who gives himself
To friendliness and cheer,
And works to help brother find
A smoother journey here.

J.R. Cushing

One cannot change yesterday, that's clear
Or begin tomorrow until it's here.
So all that is left for you and for me
Is to make today as sweet as can be.

I watched them tearing a building down,
A gang of men in a busy town.
With a ho-ho-ho and lusty yell
They swung a beam, and the sidewalk fell.
I asked the foreman: "Are these men skilled?
And the men you'd hire if you had to build?"
He gave a laugh and said? No, indeed!
Just common labor is all I need.
I can easily wreck in a day or two
What builders have taken a year to do."

And I thought to myself as I went my way
Which of these roles have I tried to play?
Am I a builder who works with care
Measuring life by the rule and square?
Am I shaping my deeds to a well-made plan
Patiently doing the best I can?
Or am I a wrecker, who walks the town
Content with the labor of tearing down.

BREAKER AND MAKER

Fate called a quitter from the crowd
And barred his pathway to success;
At each new blow he wailed aloud,
Or faltered in the daily stress,
And step by step Fate dragged him low,
The easier each passing day,
And yet he struck no counter blow,
Or ever upward fought his way.

And at the end, he cursed the Fate
That drove him to such bitter state.

Fate picked a fighter from the throng
And barred his pathway to the goal;
At each new blow with purpose strong,
He fought with ever braver soul;
And step by step he bore Fate back
The easier each passing day,
And soon, before the stout attack,
Fate passed on beaten, from the way.

And at the end, he blessed Fate's whim
That helped to make a man of him.

Boosting THE BOOSTER

✓ Boost your city, boost your friend;
Boost the ^{school} church that you attend.

Boost the street on which you're dwelling,

Boost the goods that you are selling.

Boost the people round about you,

They can get along without you.

But success will quicker find them

If they know that you're behind them.

Boost for every forward movement;

Boost for every new improvement;

Boost the man for whom you labor;

Boost the stranger and the neighbor.

Cease to be a chronic Knocker,

Cease to be a progress-blocker;

If you'd make your city better

Boost it to the final letter.

There are gains for all our losses,

There are balm for all our pains,

But when youth, the dream departs,

It takes something from our hearts,

And it never comes again.

✓ SERMONS WE SEE

I'd rather see a sermon than hear one
any day,

I'd rather one would walk ^{with me, than} the way,
merely tell the way,

The eyes a better pupil and more willing
than the ear,

Fine counsel is confusing, but examples
always clear;

The best of all the preachers are the men who live their creeds,

For to see God put in action is what everybody needs.

I soon can learn to do it, if you let me see it done,

I can watch your hands in action but your tongue, too fast, may run;

The lectures you deliver may be very wise and true,

But I'd rather get my lessons by observing what you do.

I may not understand, - the high advice you give

But there's no misunderstanding, how you act and how you live.

- Edgar A. Guest

No matter how low you are feeling
You'll find a smile quite revealing.
It grows in a wreath
All around the front teeth
Thus preventing the face from congealing.

THE HAND OF YOU

Sometimes when shadows cross my path
As shadows sometimes do,
I reach my hand across the mist
And touch the hand of you.
I know the sun is in the sky,
I know true love is true,
But, oh, it comforts in the dark
To touch the hand of you.

Through all the silence of the years,
Through friendship old and new,
The dearest of my memory of my life
I touch the hand of you.
The clouds and shadows come along -
We all must have a few
But through them all, please God, let me
Still touch the hand of you.
Cecil Jacob Bond

Heres to the army and navy
And the battles they have won,
Heres to America's colors -
The colors that never run.

Heres to the American Eagle
That bird so uncommonly bold,
Whos nobody yet could un-eagle
When they tried to get salt on his tail.

"Real joy comes not from ease or riches or from the praise of men; but from doing something worthwhile."

A MEMORY SYSTEM

Forget each kindness that you do

As soon as you have done it.

Forget the praise that fall to you

The moment you have ^{heard} done it.

Forget the slander that you hear

Before you can repeat it.

Forget each slight, each spite, each sneer

Wherever you may meet it.

- Doro.

Strange, but blind faith ^{often} leads you safely through the dark glasses.

ONE WORD

I spoke a hasty word, a bitter word,

To one whose gentle soul is sensitive

Until I saw her eyes, her silent lips,

I never knew what pain one word can give.

I spoke a loving word, a tender word,

To one who fancied life is hard to live

Until I saw her face revived by hope

I never knew the joy one ^{word} can give.

- Edna M. Deese.

A SAFETY PIN

Like many a mouth, this pin is safe only when closed;— open, it pricks and draws blood;— it's a clue too. Biting words, even in play, do hurt. Sarcasm, witty cracks, tossed carelessly here and there, gouge deep-malicious teasing bruises; maims and leaves a scar. If you run around with your safety lever off, you'll find everyone scurrying out of your earshot— and why not?

—Elizabeth Woodward

Together is a beginning
Keeping together is progress
Thinking together is unity
Working together is success.

H. C. Jackson

Blessed are they who have the gift of making friends for it is one of God's best gifts. It involves many things but above all, the power of going out of oneself and appreciating whatever is noble and loving in another.

One gives away, and still he grows the richer; another keeps what he should give, and is the poorer.

Proverbs 11: 24

The greatest of faults, I should say,
is to be conscious of none.

Carlyle

It takes the darkness to bring out the lightness in friendship.

Rod Hendrickson.

Art, like morality, consists of drawing the line somewhere.

Of what use is it to win an argument and lose a friend.

Go often to the house of thy friend, for weeds choke up the unused path.

If a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man, sir, should keep his friendship in a constant repair.

A Thought for Today

I want to be rich, dear Master
Rich toward God and my fellow-men.
Teach me the noble art of giving.
May I drain out today's soul reservoir
That tomorrow I may receive a renewed
And enlarged supply.

the room for self-improvement.

THE WAY TO HAPPINESS

✓ Keep your heart free from hate, your mind from worry. Live simply, expect little; give much; fill your life with love; scatter sunshine. Forget self. Think of others, and do as you would be done by.

COURAGE

Courage for the great sorrows of life, and patience for the small ones; and then when you have accomplished your daily task, go to sleep in peace. God is awake.

HEROISM

✓ The lives of truest heroes are those in which there are no great deeds to look back upon. It is the little things well done that go to make up a successful and truly good life.

— Theodore Roosevelt.

Aim above morality. Be not simply good; be good for something.

— Henry D. Thoreau.

Play not for gain, but for sport. Who plays for ^{more} than he can lose with pleasure stakes his heart.

George Herbert

No sadder proof can be given by a man of his own littleness than disbelief in great men.

Thomas Carlyle

Those who live on the mountains have a longer day than those who live in the valley. Sometimes all we need to brighten our day is to rise a little higher.

✓ Any coward can fight a battle when he's sure of winning; but give me the man who has pluck to fight when he's sure of losing.
That's my way, sir; and there are many victories worse than a defeat.

— George Eliot

I am only one,

But still I am one.

I cannot do everything

But still, I can do something

And because I cannot do everything

I will not refuse to do the something that I can do.

Edward Everett Hale.

The rung of a ladder was never made to rest upon, but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other somewhat higher.

Thomas H. Huxley.

On the field of friendly strife are sown the seeds, which, in other years on other fields will bear the fruits of victory.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The way to develop the best that is in man is by appreciation and encouragement.

Schwab

You cannot prevent the birds of sorrow from flying over your head, but you can prevent them from building nests in your hair.

Silence is not always tact, and it is tact that is golden, not silence.

— Samuel Butler

The frontiers are not East or West,
North or South, but wherever a man
fronts a fact.

— Thoreau

✓ The person who adjusts himself to his fellows, has confidence in them inspite of their weaknesses, trusts them inspite of their betrayals and desiate, cooperates
with them inspite of their antagonism, that person is a real friend, and has the fountain of perpetual youth.

A lady gentleman is one who thinks more of other people's feelings than of his own rights; and more of other people's rights than of his own feeling.

The great pleasure I know is to do a good action by stealth and have it found out by accident.

— Charles Lamb

✓ Great occasions do not make heroes or cowards; they simply unveil them to the eyes of men. Silently and imperceptibly, as we wake or sleep, we grow strong or weak; and at last some crisis shows us what we have become.

— Canon Westcott

I am defeated, and know it, if I meet any human being from whom I find myself unable to learn anything.

— George Herbert Palmer
