Dear Yuri,

Thank you ever so much for your letter and all the other information. It is so reassuring to find that you are still your old reliable self.

Well it seems that the N.C. Authorities have decided to let Rob Williams off the hook. The whole affair seemed strange to me and especially the excuse they used.

I think your group's position paper and support was correct, however as you said, Rob still has a lot to be explained to the people.

Yuri, the news about Billy really hurt. I don't care to be open fresh wounds the way it hit me, I can imagine what it has done to the rest of you.

Right now we are trying to make preparations to return to the U.S. This trip did not turn out as I had hoped, nevertheless, it has proved to be a very valuable experience.

You will be notified when and how I plan to return. Right now I am thinking of returning via boat to have some time to do some writing.
